Free Prom Dresses In Racine

Lauren Leamanczyk

RACINE - It is a girl's dream. Racks and racks of beautiful dresses, and they are all free.

That's the scene at Belle of the Ball. It's a boutique set up for one weekend only in the lower level of St. Mary's Hospital in Racine. Girls can come in and pick out gently used prom dresses for their big night.

Also on hand are accessories, shoes and makeup to finish off the look.

"The demand is definitely up," said organizer Krystyna Sarrazin. "It could be because of the economy. It could be because of word of mouth that this is a nice place to come."

Brittany Garard-Posanski looked through the racks looking for the perfect dress. "Something that just stands out that nobody else will have, that's just ba-bam!" She found it in a green sequined dress.

Belle of the Ball is open for one weekend only. Hours are noon to 2 p.m. on Saturday, March 7. For more information go to their Web site, www.racineprom.org.
